

On Course to Excellence

Corporate Team Building at Sea

Learning Technologies, Inc.

has combined corporate team building and sailing to produce a powerful tool to get your team in "ship shape."

Set Your Sails For A Successful Future!

What: On Course To Excellence is a one-day corporate sailing program designed to do more than teach participants the difference between a sheet and a halyard. Our goal is to get business people communicating and working together as a team. Programs focus specifically on your company's issues.

Why: Sailing offers numerous analogies to the work place:

- ✓ Plotting your course and knowing your position is vital.
- ✓ Delegating duties is essential.
- ✓ Communication and teamwork are key to keeping the sails full and the ship moving forward.
- ✓ Reading the indicators of the environment is crucial to your success.
- ✓ Dealing with unexpected storms and changes can rock the boat and throw your team off course.

Who: Your program will be designed by professional consultants, with at least 20 years of business experience as well as being skilled sailors. We have on staff a U.S. Coast Guard certified Captain as well as professionally trained technical staff.

Where: We partner with numerous offshore charter services along both the East and West Coast, in the Caribbean, and in Hawaii, as well as a number of inland locations.

Benefits: Working on the sea has brought people together for years. You'll learn how to tackle seemingly insurmountable problems and break them down so they're manageable. You'll look at how your team plans and how to plan more effectively. You'll work to accomplish a common goal using the individual skills and strengths of each member.
